5. Public Comment- none. Hartley Mead wanted to let the public know that the agency members are not soil scientists, they are lay people. He said they learn from the professionals. Mr. Mead said that he brought this issue up because it pertains to this evening.
6. Old Business-
 - A. Haystack Woods review –
Haystack work has started and they had some issues with water under the road, where the old road from the town garage came in. Michael Halloran, Hartley Mead, Lou Barbagallo, Kate Johnson, Ken Hrica, and the guys from Guerra doing the work all met at the site. There were no Wetlands on the road in the approval plans but there were Wetlands on both sides of it. It now appears there are Wetlands in the middle of the road so any work that needs to be done needs to be approved by the Wetlands. Lou Barbagallo spoke and said that they had George Logan, a soil scientist, look at the area and he had no issues with it. They found an old pipe under the road and the recommendation was to remove the pipe since it wasn't serving a function anymore and the water should follow its course down the side of the road. Phil Lovett read a letter from George Logan (Attached). Phil Lovett didn't see how it would flow down and go into the swale and he recommend they put in some kind of berm to catch the storm water and didn't think just planning on the stones under the road to allow the water to leach through did not make sense. Mr. Lovett also mentioned that in the winter you could have frost heaves under the road that makes the asphalt move. Hartley Mead suggested that they have Todd Parsons review their plans.

Hartley Mead made a motion to have Todd Parsons review their plans, seconded by Rich Kessin and approved unanimously.

Mr. Mead also noted that the Agency should be notified of any modifications to the approved plans. The Agency will determine if any modification is major or minor.

Michael Halloran will contact Todd Parsons.

B. Review and update of gas spill

Michael Halloran emailed a gas spill report from Ferdantes to the Agency which explains where they are at with testing and remediation. They have not been granted full access yet to test all areas.

C. Peter Scott

A project the Agency had looked at in 2021 where they were securing a lake house at Doolittle lake using Helicols and steel beams but have now decided to only use Helicos and no steel beams, but a significant number of more Helicos. Peter Scott explained that there are no significant changes to the plan and that he wanted to keep the Agency informed.
